Fetal Alcohol Spectrum Disorder (FASD) in Primary Care

RACGP CPD Activity 2020 22 4 points

This education is a 4-point CPD Activity under the RACGP CPD Program, activity number 190518

Sydney North Health Network (SNHN) invites local GPs, Nurses, Pharmacists, Allied Health Professionals and their staff to this workshop. FASD is the leading preventable cause of learning disability worldwide. The Child Development Service (CDS) team at RNSH, will provide information, advice and resources regarding FASD. This will include how to recognise and manage FASD in primary care, having the difficult conversation with parents and approaches to reducing stigma. You will also meet other key support services and hear how they can help you and your patients.
