

FREE two-hour workshop— technology-facilitated abuse and its relationship to domestic and family violence

Empowering women to take control online

How to register?

The Office will be presenting this workshop at

Register your interest by emailing esafetywomen@esafety.gov.au and indicate your preferred timeslot:

- 10am–12pm
- 1pm–3pm

Alternatively we can present onsite. If your organisation has 10 or more staff members who would like to participate in a workshop, please contact us to discuss suitable dates.

Please forward this attachment to others who may be interested in attending.

Safe access to technology is crucial for women so they can stay connected to their family and friends, engage with the world and get information and support.

This presentation has been created by the Office of the Children's eSafety Commissioner and WESNET, with the support from the Department of Social Services.

The workshop is for frontline and specialist staff, mainstream professionals and those volunteering in the domestic violence field. It will give participants:

- a detailed understanding of how technology-facilitated abuse can occur and how to make changes to reduce technology risks
- the knowledge and confidence to support women and families experiencing or recovering from this type of abuse
- information on how to access a new phone under the WESNET Telstra Safe Connections program.

For more information visit www.esafety.gov.au/women.

One in four women in Australia has experienced emotional abuse from a current or former partner

One in six women in Australia has experienced physical or sexual violence from a current or former partner

In 98% of cases this violence includes technology-facilitated violence

Young adults (18-24) are more likely to experience online abuse

