GRADUATE NURSE PRIMARY CARE TRANSITION PROGRAM

Expression of Interest

Are you interested in taking on a recent graduate Registered Nurse in 2017?

Expressions of Interest

Sydney North Health Network are seeking expressions of interest from General Practices who would like to participate in the Primary Care Graduate Nurse Transition Program, being offered in partnership with the University of Sydney and Primary and Community Care Services (PCCS).

About the program

The Primary Care Graduate Nurse Transition Program recognises the important and growing role of Primary Care Nursing. With a similar concept to GP registrar training, the Transition Program has been specifically designed for recently graduated Registered Nurses entering primary care directly from university studies. The graduates will work in local general practices and become part of your vibrant multidisciplinary primary care team, whilst being supported by a Transition Program Coordinator, who will deliver a structured education program and facilitate workplace learning, preceptorship and practice development.

Eligibility

Accredited practices who currently employ a Primary Care Nurse are eligible to participate in this program.

Benefits for the Practice

- ~ Boost practice capacity to provide additional nursing services for your patients and implement quality improvement initiatives
- ~ Access to the Practice Nurse Incentive Payments for accredited practices
- ~ Access to free, evidence based education for both your existing nurse/s and the graduate nurse provided by Sydney North Health Network
- ~ Facilitate an exciting new career pathway for recent graduate nurses
- ~ Opportunity to retain the nurse you have orientated and supported
