

Emotional health is just as important as physical health during pregnancy and early parenthood.

Gidget Foundation Australia Gidget House Manly now open!

A new mild-moderate perinatal support service is open in Manly

For Pregnant women and new parents at risk of experiencing emotional distress associated with perinatal depression and / or anxiety (conception to 12 months post-partum), or those who have suffered a pregnancy-related loss within the last 12 months

Where 19-21 South Steyne, Manly

Due to COVID-19, all Gidget House Manly consultations will be conducted via telehealth until 13th September 2020

Cost Free, with a GP referral and Mental Health Care Plan under the Medicare Better Access Initiative – up to 10 sessions

Provided by Experienced perinatal mental health professionals – psychologists, social workers

Referrals GP letter with Mental Health Care Plan faxed to central booking office fax (02) 9460 1551

For appointments: GP, patient or nurse please call 1300 851 758

A typical consulting room

For appointments or more information contact 1300 851 758 or at gidgetfoundation.org.au