

Program:

SNHN AGM & Navigating the New World: Preparedness, response, resilience health symposium

Given COVID-19 restrictions, the number of delegates allowed at the venue will be capped. This symposium will also be livestreamed and run as an interactive webinar.

Date	Thursday 5 November 2020
Time	6.30pm for registration and dinner (face to face event only), Kirribilli Club 7.00pm SNHN AGM (livestream webinar interactive webinar begins) 7.30pm Navigating the New World: Preparedness, response, resilience 9.15pm Sponsor messages 9.30pm Close

Time	Presentation	Speaker
6.30pm	Registration and dinner	Face to face event only
7.00pm	Livestream interactive webinar begins Acknowledgement to Country SNHN Welcome	SNHN Chair & CEO
7.30pm	Navigating the New World introduction	Dr Norman Swan, MC
8.00pm – 9.15pm	Presentations and Q&A Panel	Dr Norman Swan, MC Dr Penny Burns, GP Prof Susan Kurrle, Geriatrician Dr Pankaj Arora, Emergency Medicine Prof Peter Sainsbury
9.15pm	Sponsor messages via video's	Platinum Sponsors (TBC)
9.30pm	Close

Speaker Profiles

Facilitator: Dr Norman Swan – MC & Facilitator One of the first medically qualified journalists in Australia, Dr Swan is highly regarded by the medical and health professions. Joining the ABC in 1982, Dr Swan has won numerous awards for his work on Radio National.

Dr Penny Burns, GP Dr Burns is a Disaster Medicine Specialist and general practitioner who has championed the role of general practitioners in disaster response for close to a decade and has been a decisive figure in helping primary health networks develop disaster management pathways.

Professor Susan Kurrle, Geriatrician Prof Kurrle is with the Faculty of Medicine, University of Sydney and Director, Staff Specialist, Geriatrician, Hornsby Ku-ring-gai Hospital and Community Services.

Dr Pankaj Arora, Emergency Medicine Dr Arora is the Founder of WiSE Medical and Director Emergency and Training at Royal North Shore Hospital. He is a Board member of the Global Academy for Emergency Medicine.

Professor Peter Sainsbury Prof Sainsbury has adjunct professorial appointments in the Faculty of the Built Environment at the University of NSW, the School of Medicine Sydney at Notre Dame University, and the School of Public Health at Sydney University. His qualification and experience cover medicine, health planning and health services management.